Teligistics Achieves AOTMP Efficiency First® Solution Certification

Certification demonstrates alignment with telecom management industry best practices

INDIANAPOLIS—March 12, 2015—AOTMP is pleased to announce that Teligistics, a telecom expense lifecycle management company, was recently awarded Efficiency First® Solution Certification.

During the extensive Efficiency First® Solution Certification program, the alignment of Teligistics' fixed and mobile telecom expense management services was evaluated and certified against stringent Efficiency First® Framework principles. Teligistics was also evaluated and scored on performance and client experience.

AOTMP identified several notable strengths, including strong contract negotiations, vast telecom expertise, hands-on account management and unparalleled performance commitment; all of which illustrate Teligistics' commitment to excellence for its clients. Throughout the Efficiency First® Solution certification program, customers rated Teligistics high in several performance satisfaction categories, and identified operational and financial benefits as a result of their business relationship. Teligistics' certification serves as recognition that they are a leader in telecom expense management with a strong commitment to drive performance and deliver excellent service to its clients.

"AOTMP commends Teligistics on its certification," said Timothy C. Colwell, SVP Efficiency First® Adoption. "Teligistics' solution capabilities are certified for alignment with twenty-three Efficiency First® Framework Model principles supporting fixed and mobile telecom management; and its dedication to deliver superior telecom management results along with strong contract negotiation skills are at the foundation of how Teligistics earned certification."

"Teligistics continues to be the leader in platinum-level telecom cost control solutions and applications with our latest accolade, achieving the coveted Efficiency First® certification from AOTMP," announced CEO David Roberts. "AOTMP is the recognized research voice for Best-in-Class information analytics for both enterprises and suppliers. I would like to congratulate our entire team for achieving this designation."
