Teligistics' Growth Continues to Accelerate in 2007

Texas firm's strong growth in 2007 validates the effectiveness of Teligistics' "Telecom Expense & Asset Management®" platform used by mid-market and large enterprise clients for managing, reducing and processing corporate telecom expenses.

The Woodlands, TX (OPENPRESS) June 22nd, 2007 - Teligistics, Inc. the leading telecom expense management and consulting firm announced today that growth in revenue, profits and client acquisitions reached a record level for the first 5 months of 2007.

Teligistics CEO, David Roberts stated, "This incredible growth is continued proof that we are performing for our clients. We know very well that if we take care of our clients, our financials will mirror their satisfaction. Our Telecom Expense & Asset Management® application is a unique tool and is performing above client expectations and significantly above industry standards."

Highlights of this growth include a 854% overall increase in net income as compared to the same period in 2006. Teligistics' Telecom Expense & Asset Management® (TEAM®) revenue grew 102%. Total number of invoices processed by the TEAM® application soared by 675%. Client acquisitions for the TEAM® application grew 75%. Teligistics consulting revenues for contract negotiations, RFP management and strategic sourcing for telecom projects jumped 1,575% during the same period.

Roberts continued, "The combination of our application, coupled with our telecom expert staffing have had a significant impact to our clients' overall telecom related expenditures and have given them a level of control and visibility they have never enjoyed previously."

"When you have an ROI (return on investment) that averages over 800% and an application that does not require license fees or extensive training, it's fairly easy to understand the level of customer satisfaction that is driving this growth," Roberts added.

Roberts continued, "It is very rewarding to see our clients gain the visibility and control of these expenses, which in most cases is for the first time ever".

"As incredible as this growth has been, it has not been at the expense of our applications nor has it resulted in any decrease in services. We are very careful regarding the projects we take on and are very methodical in the strategic management and planning of these engagements," Roberts stated.

Teligistics is a closely-held private company and does not release specific financial information to the general public.
